The Beauty of Historic Hardscape: Timeless and Green

We all know “Green is in.” Not only is Historic Hardscape a true Green product, it’s also embodies a timeless beauty that cannot be duplicated with today’s technology.

Historic Hardscape is like an ageless actor revealing a depth of character that continually captures the audience’s attention, engages and delights.

Are you looking to increase the LEED points for your Green projects?

Our Historic Hardscape is perfect fit. It’s salvaged, recycled, reclaimed, and reused from local New England sites.

With years of weathering and the subtle patina on fieldstones; hand-chiseled faces and drill marks on granite foundations and curbing; tailings from old quarries; and worn-smooth cobbles and bricks from the streets and sidewalks of New England Historic Hardscape commands a distinct, timeless presence.

We continually scout for and uncover unique locations throughout New England to bring you an exciting variety of stone to review. Frequently we email short videos on our latest finds.

Our passion for Historic Hardscape does not stop with our in yard inventory. Based on your designs we use our network to research and find the best materials for your projects. And when needed, we recommend contractors that are well suited to work with specific Hardscape.

We aim for total satisfaction from finding the perfect Hardscape for the project, and working effectively with architects, landscape designers, contractors, and when asked even homeowners and commercial clients.

It’s not just a job; it’s our passion.
